I believe he does. He wouldn't preferred the charter cluster that kept everyone in DeKalb, but they pulled the plug on that effort last week.

Glad to know you are on it. I agree there a lot of questions to figure out, like where will all those kids go to middle school if they come to APS? A friend in Druid Hills thinks a majority there will support it because they hate DeKalb County and its school board even more than they dislike increased taxes. I know Marshall through soccer. Does he like the idea?

Yup. I brought it to Meria's at our one-on-one in either July or August, and brought it up again the next month. Leslie and I have had a few conversations with Marshall Orson, I talked with Alex Wan a couple times, I went and sat in the back at a meeting at the Frazer Center last month, and I'm going to a meeting at Briar Vista tonight. Have made it clear that APS doesn't have a position on the matter-- and that there are A LOT of questions still to figure out!

Is anyone from APS or the Board monitoring the discussions about annexation of Fernbank and Briar Vista attendance zones into City of Atlanta? The proposed annexation map is on the Druid Hills Civic Assoc. website.

Thanks,

Mary Jo
