Subject: Fernbank attendance zone

As we all have discussed at various times, a key to a successful annexation push will be to keep school attendance zones intact, particularly Fernbank and Briar Vista. However, there are people in Clairmont Heights who are under the impression that Atlanta is not interested in annexing east of Clairmont. Mike Dowling thinks this is the case. Putting aside the small group in CH pushing Decatur, including CH is critical to the overall push and it is critical that the message on this point is consistent. Thoughts?
